THE WORLD OF ALUMINUM AND WOODEN DOORS

Phoenix... We provide you with the best that aluminum and wooden door technology has to offer

The world of aluminum and glass facades is the backbone of modern architecture, a sector experiencing tremendous growth driven by the global trend toward sustainable, energy-efficient buildings with sophisticated aesthetic designs.

This field integrates precision engineering, materials science, and supply chain management.

Raw material supply: Importing aluminum, glass, and facade accessories and distributing them to local factories.

Logistics and shipping: Shipping architectural glass and long aluminum sections (which can reach 6 meters or more) requires specialized packaging and containers (open top or high cube) to prevent breakage or warping during maritime transport, especially when shipping to geographically diverse markets.
